

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

MR. WILLARD STRAIGHT'S ZULOAGA

THE highest traditions of Spanish art centre in Zuloaga, whose picture "The Gypsy Dancer in Toreador Costume" is owned by Mr. Willard Straight. The artist is a worthy descendant of the great Spanishold masters—El Greco, Velasquez and Goya.

His style is more severe than that of Sorolla and for that reason his genius was not so quickly recognized here, although his original introduction to America was under equally brilliant auspices. For the Hispanic Society brought forward both these painters and they exhibited in its gallery. The work of Sorolla, however, being more brilliant in style readily captivated the public, whereas Zuloaga has been much longer in making his way. But the acquisition by Mr. Willard Straight of several paintings by the master, including the one which THE LOTUS reproduces, will give additional eclat to the name of this modern Spaniard, who despite his modernity so well preserves the spirit—one might say the "reticence"—associated with the great art-traditions of his country.

Zuloaga comes naturally by his artistic instinct, although his family have not been painters or sculptors, but for several generations back craftsmen of very high type. In fact, as Mr. Christian Brinton has written, they constitute what may be called a species of ancestral dynasty. Zuloaga's great grandfather was armorer to the Life Guards. His grandfather organized the Royal Armory of Madrid; and his father became the foremost artist of Europe along the same lines of armor art-craft, being virtually a rediscoverer of the art of damascene. The pictures by Zuloaga, which Mr. Straight has purchased, have been on exhibition in the gallery of Mr. C. W. Kraushaar, No. 260 Fifth Avenue.

The Gypsy Dancer in Toreador Costume. By Ignacio Zuloaga